

Photo of me in front of the Namati banner

Once a quarter, staff get together for a potluck

In DC, where happy hours rule, Namatians (as our staff are lovingly called) find time to celebrate over a drink.