

November, 2018

Dear Staff,

Thank you to everyone who joined us for our Halloween Happy Hour, especially those of you who came decked out in creative costumes! If the conversations we've been having with many of you are any indication, the month of October was absolutely packed for everyone.

Here's to closing out the rest of November strong as we head toward a well-deserved rest during Thanksgiving break. There is a lot to take advantage of this month, both on-campus and off, and plenty to be thankful for. So, we'll start off with a couple ways you can help members of our broader community this holiday season.

Cheers!

Welcome Jamie Withorne!

SAT would like to extend a warm welcome to Jamie Withorne, who has joined the Center for Nonproliferation Studies. Jamie will be working as a Research Assistant and Office Manager at the Center. Prior to joining us at The Institute, Jamie interned at the U.S. Department of State, The Hudson Institute, The Center for Arms Control and Non-Proliferation, and worked as a Research Assistant at Columbia University. She can be reached at jwithorne@miis.edu.
